The convention was squarely called by the county committee—the only proper authority for the purpose—ample notice of the time and place was given, the convention was held on the day of the college exhibition, when the town was full of country people, and it was held in the convert country house. Under these circumstances it is plain that the cry of Irregularity is raised for the purpose of affording a pretext for a row at the Territorial convention. This becomes expecially apparent in view of the fact that the same factics have been adopted in Rio Arriba. The plan is now to hold a second convention in each of these countries, and send up contesting delegations, and we are reliably informed that the same flue of policy is to be followed in Socorro.
